The Standard Deviation (Std Dev) is a measure of dispersion around the mean. In a normal distribution, 68% of cases fall within one Std Dev of the mean, and 95% of cases fall within 2 Std Deviations. The Standard Error about the Mean (SE Mean) is a measure of how much the value of the mean (Average) varies from sample to sample.

FACULTY: John Constantelos

WRITTEN COMMENTS – VERBATIM

Comment on what the instructor does well

- He was very helpful and almost father-like in his treatment of each of us. He was understanding of our situations.
- I really liked the way we went over every chapter of every book we read. Also, presenting a chapter really helped me stay focused and on task.
- The instructor is very good at making the students feel confident while still challenging them
- Student participation. Encourage critical thinking. Prep for graduation
- The instructor is very well at analyzing the material & presenting the class with knowledge
- Excellent prof. Thorough & effective lectures. Also very easy to approach and commodated to set up time/location to meet with students.
- Professor Constantelos is very detailed in his lectures and is very helpful.
- Being open to student questions and answering them with good explanation
- Instructor does well at teaching but was unclear in some ways we would be graded

Comment on what the instructor could do differently/better

- I would have enjoyed more content review.
- Organization of the course and the schedule were frequently changing
- It would have been nice to have more time on the statistical review.
- I wouldn't change much about the course.
- More notes. More gradable material
- More feedback on big research paper. Give opportunity to hand in rough draft
- He is a little harsh on grading

Additional comments

- This course should be required only by those wanting to continue to the IR graduate program.
