

ADHD 2.0, Special Topics in ADHD

At a glance...

This presentation will discuss special topics in ADHD, including but not limited to rejection sensitivity dysphoria, depression after success, ADHD symptom types and management, emotional dysregulation, trauma processing, differential diagnostics and more. Participants will gain a much deeper understanding of what it is like to live with ADHD. They also will gain skills and tools to help their clients overcome challenges caused by ADHD. There will be information presented about working with both children and adults with ADHD.

Objectives

1. Participants will be able to help clients improve their ADHD symptoms by addressing various factors which increase the severity of symptoms.
2. Participants will learn how to provide clients with psychoeducation on a wide variety of ADHD symptoms and experiences.
3. Participants will be able to advocate for evidence based treatment and care for their clients.
4. Participants will gain confidence and competence in the diagnosis and treatment of ADHD.

Speaker

Noelle Lynn is the licensed clinical social worker and diagnostician at the ADHD Center of West Michigan. She is passionate about training others to effectively work with clients who have ADHD. Noelle has spoken throughout the world about ADHD and has extensive clinical and educational experience. She currently works specifically with clients who have an ADHD diagnosis as well as significant trauma primarily utilizing EMDR. Her first book, The EMDR for ADHD manual will hopefully be published in 2024.
