

Nathan Schneider

in conversation on spirituality & social justice

“a gifted writer, chronicling the world he and his compatriots are helping to make—spiritual, technological, and communal” – Krista Tippett

Friday, September 30th

Dominican Center at Marywood

9:30am – 11:30am

Free & open to public

Register online: <http://schneider-gr.eventbrite.com>

Nathan Schneider is columnist and blogger for America magazine. He has written about religion, technology, and social justice for publications including Vice, The New Republic, Harper's, The Nation, The Chronicle of Higher Education, The Catholic Worker, and Commonweal. His two books, God in Proof: The Story of a Search from the Ancients to the Internet and Thank You, Anarchy: Notes from the Occupy Apocalypse, both appeared in 2013 through University of California Press. He holds an MA in religious studies from the University of California, Santa Barbara, where he was part of the Catholic Studies program, and a BA in the same subject from Brown University. He is currently a scholar in residence of media studies at the University of Colorado Boulder. Follow his work on social media at @ntnsndr or at his website, nathanschneider.info. Listen to his On Being interview, “The Wisdom of Millennials,” online at www.onbeing.org.

Part of a series on Religious Identity in the 21st Century coordinated by the Kaufman Interfaith Institute at Grand Valley State University.

Co-sponsored by Aquinas College Interfaith, Dominican Center at Marywood.